In 2013, 883 unrestrained rear seat occupants age eight and older died in motor vehicle crashes. More than 400 of them would have survived if they had buckled up up.

Source: NHTSA Fatality Analysis Reporting System, 2013 data